

NOTICE OF PRIVACY PRACTICES POLICY
REFERENCE: 45 C.F.R. 164.502(1)

POLICY

Khan Dental, LLC is required to have a Notice of Privacy Practices and may not use or disclose PHI in a manner inconsistent with such Notice. A covered entity that is required to include a specific statement in its Notice if it intends to engage in an activity may not use or disclose PHI for such activities, unless the required statement is included in the Notice.

PROCEDURE

1. Great Smiles Family Dentistry will maintain an up-to-date Notice of Privacy Practices. That Notice will be posted in the waiting room area and on our website at www.greatsmilestoledo.com.
2. Great Smiles Family Dentistry will use and disclose PHI only in a manner identified in the Notice.
3. A copy of the Notice will be provided to every patient at his or her first visit with Great Smiles Family Dentistry. Staff will make a good faith effort to have the patient sign to attest that they have received a copy of the Notice. Care must be given even if the patient refuses to sign the Notice.

INTERPRETATIONS

1. The Rule requires practices to provide patients with notice of the patient's privacy rights and the privacy practices of Great Smiles Family Dentistry. The strengthened Notice requires direct treatment providers to make a good faith effort to obtain a patients' written acknowledgement of the Notice of Privacy Practices. The final rule promotes access to care by removing mandatory consent requirements that would inhibit patient access to health care while providing the practice with the option of developing a consent process that works for that entity.
2. A health care provider that has a direct treatment relationship with a patient (e.g., a direct treatment relationship is one in which the health care provider is providing care or service directly to a patient, such as a doctor or a pharmacist who provides advice on the proper use of a drug and anticipated adverse effects) must give a copy of the practice's Notice to the patient at the first delivery of service starting on or after April 14, 2003.
3. A health care provider that has an indirect treatment relationship with a patient (e.g., provides services on the orders of another health care provider and delivers care and services to the patient through the referring provider, i.e., a laboratory would draw blood from a patient on the orders of a doctor and return the results to the doctor to give to the patient) need only give the organization's Notice to the patient if it is requested by the patient.
4. If the first delivery of care to a patient is over the telephone, the practice must provide a copy of the Notice to the patient on that day, either electronically, if the patient agrees, or by mail. Scheduling an appointment is not considered a service delivery.
5. Practices are permitted to send the Notice to patients electronically only if the patient agrees to receive the document electronically. The patient's agreement can be indirect. For example, if the patient provides an e-mail address to the practice, the practice can interpret that as a willingness of the patient to receive the Notice by e-mail.
6. If a copy of the Notice is sent to patients electronically, a paper copy of the Notice must still be provided if the patient requests one.
7. If unable to give the Notice to the patient because of an emergency situation or because they are not currently able to acknowledge receipt, the Notice must be given as soon thereafter as is "reasonably practical."
8. If the patient is a minor or incompetent, a copy must be provided to the patient's parent or legal guardian.
9. The practice's Notice must be posted in the waiting room area and on our website at: www.greatsmilestoledo.com.
10. If a significant revision is made to the Notice, a copy must be made available to the patient on or after the expiration date if the patient asks. The new Notice must be available on the practice's website if available. It is not necessary to mail a new Notice to all patients of the practice.

In such cases, we will only share your information with someone able to help prevent the threat. We may also disclose your health information to law enforcement officers if you tell us that you participated in a violent crime that may have caused serious physical harm to another person (unless you admitted that fact while in counseling), or if we determine that you escaped from lawful custody (such as a prison or mental health institution).

7. Completely De-identified or Partially De-identified Information. We may use and disclose your health information if we have removed any information that has the potential to identify you so that the health information is "completely de-identified." We may also use and disclose "partially de-identified" health information about you if the person who will receive the information signs an agreement to protect the privacy of the information as required by federal and state law. Partially de-identified health information will not contain any information that would directly identify you (such as your name, street address, social security number, phone number, fax number, electronic mail address, website address, or license number).

8. Incidental Disclosures. While we will take reasonable steps to safeguard the privacy of your health information, certain disclosures of your health information may occur during or as an unavoidable result of our otherwise permissible uses or disclosures of your health information. For example, during the course of a treatment session, other patients in the treatment area may see, or overhear discussion of, your health information.

9. ## YOUR RIGHTS TO ACCESS AND CONTROL YOUR HEALTH INFORMATION

You have the following rights to access and control your health information:

- 1. Right to Inspect and Copy Records. You have the right to inspect and obtain a copy of any of your health information that may be used to make decisions about you and your treatment for as long as we maintain this information in our records, including medical and billing records. To inspect or obtain a copy of your health information, please submit your request in writing to the Privacy Officer. If you request a copy of the information, we may charge a fee for the costs of copying, mailing or other supplies we use to fulfill your request. If you would like an electronic copy of your health information, we will provide you a copy in electronic form and format as requested as long as we can readily produce such information in the form requested. Otherwise, we will cooperate with you to provide a readable electronic form and format as agreed. In some limited circumstances, we may deny the request.
- 2. Right to Amend Records. If you believe that the health information we have about you is incorrect or incomplete, you may ask us to amend the information for as long as the information is kept in our records by writing to us. Your request should include the reasons why you think we should make the amendment. If we deny part or all of your request, we will provide a written notice that explains our reasons for doing so. You will have the right to have certain information related to your requested amendment included in your records.
- 3. Right to an Accounting of Disclosures. You have a right to request an "accounting of disclosures," which is a list with information about how we have shared your health information with others. To obtain a request form for an accounting of disclosures, please write to the Privacy Officer. You have a right to receive one list every 12-month period for free. However, we may charge you for the cost of providing any additional lists in that same 12-month period.
- 4. Right to Receive Notification of a Breach. You have the right to be notified within sixty (60) days of the discovery of a breach of your unsecured protected health information if there is more than a low probability the information has been compromised. The notice will include a description of what happened, including the date, the type of information involved in the breach, steps you should take to protect yourself from potential harm, a brief description of the investigation into the breach, mitigation of harm to you and protection against further breaches and contact procedures to answer your questions.
- 5. Right to Request Restrictions. You have the right to request that we further restrict the way we use and disclose your health information to treat your condition, collect payment for that treatment, run our normal business operations or disclose information about you to family or friends involved in your care. You also have the right to request that your health information not be disclosed to a health plan if you have paid for the services out of pocket and in full, and the disclosure is not otherwise required by law. The request for restriction will only be applicable to that particular service. You will have to request a restriction for each service thereafter. To request restrictions, please write to the Privacy Officer. We are not required to agree to your request for a restriction, and in some cases the restriction you request may not be permitted under law. However, if we do agree, we will be bound by our agreement unless the information is needed to provide you with emergency treatment or comply with the law. Once we have agreed to a restriction, you have the right to revoke the restriction at any time. Under some circumstances, we will also have the right to revoke the restriction as long as we notify you before doing so.
- 6. Right to Request Confidential Communications. You have the right to request that we contact you about your medical matters in a more confidential way, such as calling you at work instead of at home, by notifying the registration associate who is assisting you. We will not ask you the reason for your request, and we will try to accommodate all reasonable requests.
- 7. Right to Have Someone Act on Your Behalf. You have the right to name a personal representative who may act on your behalf to control the privacy of your health information. Parents and guardians will generally have the right to control the privacy of health information about minors unless the minors are permitted by law to act on their own behalf.
- 8. Right to Obtain a Copy of Notices. If you are receiving this Notice electronically, you have the right to a paper copy of this Notice. We may change our privacy practices from time to time. If we do, we will revise this Notice and post any revised Notice in our registration area and on our website.

We will not withhold treatment or take action against you for filing a complaint.
- 10. Use and Disclosures Where Special Protections May Apply. Some kinds of information, such as HIV-related information, alcohol and substance abuse treatment information, mental health information, psychotherapy information, and genetic information, are considered so sensitive that state or federal laws provide special protections for them. Therefore, some parts of this general Notice of Privacy Practices may not apply to these types of information. If you have questions or concerns about the ways these types of information may be used or disclosed, please speak with your health care provider.
